which may be new to some of our readers.

The epithet "Hangman Feote," which you have thought proper to apply to me. I confess is not at all new. I received the appellation fifteen years ago, because of a ponse to a very courteous and elequent ne delivered by Mr. Hale, of New Hampoccasion that he deserved to be hanged for using such language as he then uttered.

Indeed, I may, in reply, have employed language of a directly menacing character.

Let me declare to you now, though in all frankness, that I was heartily ashamed of having used such language himediately after I had done so, and that I seized an early opportunity of making formal atone-ment for my fault, in open Senate, and in the hearing of the country, which formal atonement was repeated on more than one occasion. Still, I must confess that I can scarcely blame any one for supplying to me an epithet which, it is evident, I did so such to justify; and if you and other con trollers of the public press still think that the offence which I committed on the ocsaion referred to is really of an inexpiable nature, I will have, with as good a grace as practicable, to submit to wear this terrible

Skeletons found in Pompeii.

About two years ago, in a small street, the werkinen employed in the excavations discovered an empty space of an unusual form, in which were soule skeletons. Before disturbing them they called Signor Eloreill, who was fortunately at hand. A singularly happy thought struck him. He had the empty space filled with liquid plaster Paris, and repeated the process in the case of some other openings which presented a similar appearance. As soon as the plaster was hardened, the surrounding

Artemus Ward in Bichmond. RICHMOND, Va., May 28 & 65, OLONZO WARD.

After I comments this letter from the late rebil capitol I desire to cimply say that I have seen a low and skurrilous noat in the papers from a certain purson who signes hisself Olonzo Ward, & sen he is my berruther. I did once have a ber-ruther by that name, but I do not recognise him. To me he is wuis than ded! I took him from college sum 16 years ago and gave him a good situation as the Bearded Woman in my show. How did he repay me for this kindnessi? He basely nodestock (one day white in a Backly undertook (one day white in a Backnalian mood and rum and right in sight of the audience in the tent) to stand upon his hed, whereby he betrayed his sex on accounts of his boots & his Beard fallin' off his face, rooinin' my prospects in that town, & likewise incurrin' the seris displeasure of the Press, which sed boldly I was triflin' with feelin's of a intelligent public. I know no such man as Olenzo Ward. I do not ever wish his name breathed in my presents. I do not recognize him. I perfectly disgust him.

Immejutly on my 'rival here I proceeded to the Spottswood House, and callin' to my assistonts a yong man from our town writes a good runnin' hand, I put my or-tograph on the Register, and handin' my umbrella to a hald-heded man behind the counter, who I s'posed was Mr. Spottawood,

I said, "Spotsy, how does she run?"

He called a cullud purson and said? Show the gen'lman to the cowyard, and give him cart No. 1." "Isn't General Grant here?" I said.—
Perbaps Ulysiss wouldn't mind my turnin

"Do you know the Gin'ral?" inquired Mr. Spottswood.
"Wall, no, not 'zactly, but he'll remem ber me. His brother in law's sunt bought her rye meal of my uncle Levi all one winr. My uncle Levi's rye meal was..."
"Pooh, pooh!" said Spotsy, "don't bother ma" and he shuv'd my umbrella onto the floor. Observin to him not to be too

Her captur in female apparel confecces me in regard to his sex, & you see I speak of him as a her as frekent as otherwise, & I guess he feels so hisself.

Robert Lee is regarded as a noble feller. He was opposed to the war at the fust, and draw'd his sword very reluctant. In fact he wouldn't hav' draw'd his sword at all, only he had a large stock of military clothes on hand, which he didn't want to waste. He see the colored man is right, and he will at cace go to New York and open a Sabbath School for negro minstrels. THE CONFEDERATE ARMY. The surrender of R. Lee, J. Johnston and others leaves the Confedrit Army in a ruther shattered state. That army now consists of Kirby Smith, four mules and a Bass drum, and is movin' rapidly to'rds Texis.

A PROUD AND HAWTY SUTHENER. Feelin's little peckish, I went into a estin' house to-day, and encountered a yung Harris, convicted of tampering with rebel man with long black hair and slender frame. He didn't wear much clothes, and them as he did wear looked onhealthy. He frowned on me, and sed, kinder scornful, "So, sir, you come here to havet us in our hour of trubble, do you!"

"No," said I, "I cum here for hash!" "Pish-haw!" he sed socerinly, "I mean
